It beats a street fair all hollow.
Some way or another it all has a better ring about it than such events.

Rush county did herself proud today with the fine stock displayed.

Horse was King. The odor of gasoline fumes from a three cylinder machine were even nauseating. It was back to the middle ages for the motor cars.

Jim Wilson was the pioneer race horse man of Indiana. It was fitting that a successful horse show should be given on his old stamping grounds.

When Dick Wilson came along in the parade driving the queen of the turf, Aileen Wilson, the people cheered both the horse and the driver.
Never did cheers sound sweeter to
the ears of the veteran horseman.

George Anderson, the old colored
drayman, was the hit of the parade.
He drove a frame work of a horse
that looked like a hall tree, so bony
was it. He was the clown of the pageant.

Window seats were at a premium
in the down town district this afternoon during the races and show of blooded horses.

Guess there is some class to Rush county horses! People have been going to county fairs for years and never saw the show horses in action.
Today they realized for the first time what they have been missing
all these years.

Follow the parade to the show grounds was the slogan today.

Dr. Davis is some secretary the first thing you know.

P. A. Miller had his crop of facial alfalfa harvested just in time for it would have interfered with the big treasurer badge he wears.

Larry Harris looked like D'Artagnan on his yellow pony, but he made a good grand marshal for the horse show, just the same.

The racing events are the two best heats in three.

Two good races are scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Leather lunged barkers were in evidence as usual.

Political meetings will be sandwiched in between.

It is by far the best thing given in Rushville for many moons.

Gowdy, driven by George Weeks,
won first money in the free for all trot with Pauline, driven by Charles Gosnell, a close second. The third entry was withdrawn because he did not get to start in the first heat.

Electric Bell, driven by A. M.
Hodgin, won first in the green pace.
Helen D. (by Lon Thompson) and Pearl H. (by Glen Miller) tied for second money. Glen Miller won the heat raced to decide the place for second money.

The decorations are the most artistic ever seen here, or seen any place for that matter. They are not gaudy or cheap looking. The main scheme—those triangle affairs, you know—is the very latest thing in di-rectoire decorations.

The old town was alive with pretty girls. They are up to the high standard of blooded and stylish horses we produce. Of course this comparison is meant in a good spirit.

City Marshal Price will always be found working for the best interest
for all home events and he added
much to the success of the parade
today. His turnout was a pretty one, too.

The Weeks Meat Company has a novel advertising scheme—a boy riding a cow with advertising banners on his sides. The cow jumped over a moon-eyed boy this afternoon.

The Cambridge City band is there
with a first class line of musical productions. One of the best bands we ever had here. Ed. Pitman follows them around.

Col. Jim Worth wore a large diamond horseshoe pin today that would drive one to an optician.

The parade today was over a half mile long. Not the elastic half mile lengths of political parades.

O. P. C. H. has an interesting collection of pictures belonging to the widow of Willie Dagler, the popular young driver who died about two years ago.

Betker has an artistic front arranged that would do credit to any metropolitan store.

A new thing in band stands—the movable stand. It is a large wagon, decorated, that can be hauled around
to the scene of action.

Mauzy & Denning have two of the most beautiful windows they ever had at their store.

George Moore, the florist, had a prettily decorated wagon in the parade this morning.

Berlin Caldwell's entry today looked like he had stolen it when the merry-go-round man was not looking.

Never did the town look better after night. The hundreds of lights give it a gala appearance.

MOB FORMED TO ATTACK MORAN

Rushville Blacksmith Would Have Been Handled Roughly But
For a Physician.

WAS SORE AGAINST CAULEY.

For Giving Him Good Advice--Moran
is Charged With Intent to Murder.

James Cauley, who was murder-
ously assaulted in Shelbyville Saturday evening by Joe Moran, a blacksmith, of this city, will be brought home this evening if the physicians
don't object to removing him.

Moran was arraigned in Shelby-ville yesterday. He was charged with assault and battery with intent to commit murder. According to the Shelbyville newspapers excitement ran high following the brutal and malicious attack on the good natured, popular cigarmaker and there was some talk of mobbing Moran.

The Shelbyville Liberal says in part:

"Crazed by liquor and maddened
because he had been remonstrated
with on account of his actions, Joseph Moran, a blacksmith, made a vicious and murderous attack on James Cauley, a friend, at the Gus
Hirschauer blacksmith shop on East
Washington street at five o'clock last Saturday evening. Cauley who is a cripple, and is employed by Al Geis
as a cigar maker, was sitting in a chair by the forge in the blacksmith
shop when Moran entered the place and without a word of warning attacked him and plunged the sharp blade of an O. K. barlow knife at his throat, leaving a gaping wound in his right cheek from which the blood spurted in a stream. Moran was making ready to stab the helpless cigar maker a second time when the hand holding the bloody knife was stayed by Edward Hirschauer, a brother of the proprietor of the shop.
Moran fought like wild, but was easily overcome by those who hastened to prevent him from renewing
his attack on his intended victim,
and was finally led away from the shop.

Those who took charge of Mr.
Cauley felt certain at first that he was dying as the wound bled so profusely. It seemed that the juglar vein must have been severed. He was carried hastily to the Ross House across the street where he was attended by Dr. M. Drake. An examination of the wound led the physician to announce that there was no immediate cause for alarm
regarding the injured man and the excitement subsided and talk of handling roughly the supposed mur-derer ceased.

Cauley had tried to get Moran to go to his boarding house a few hours before the assault occurred. He cursed Cauley for his advice declaring it was not worth following. He informed a number of the men in a saloon that Cauley was feeble-minded and not capable of giving advice
to anyone and intimated that he would teach him a lesson for meddling. He staggered from the saloon later and discovered the cigar
maker in the blacksmith shop set up on him before Cauley or anyone else
in the place realized that the drunken man's brain was really fired by the thought of murder.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and warmer tonight. Wednesday increasing cloudiness.

HAND OF FATE DECREED DEATH

Marshall Hollowell Died Last Night
at the Sexton Sanitarium at 7:30 O'clock.

END OF UNHAPPY ROMANCE

After Apparently Recovering From Wounds, Deceased is Suddenly Taken Away by Death.

The finis of the Hollowell-Ertel
romance came last night when Marshall Hollowell, who shot himself
last May while stricken with grief
over a love affair of long duration,
and also shot the object of his jealous affections, Miss Mary Ertel, died at the Sexton sanitarium about 7:30 o'clock as a result of the injuries indicted by his own hands.

Mr. Hollowell was apparently recovering. The wound in his temple had healed nicely and he was able to engage in his usual vocation, farming. He had purchased an automobile and had taken several trips over the country in it, and seemed to be getting the best out of life. But about two weeks ago he suddenly grew ill and was forced to take to his bed. It developed that the wound had healed too quickly and an abscess had formed in the interior of his brain. The doctors in attendance decided that an operation was absolutely necessary if he ever recovered.
The operation which was performed
yesterday at the Sexton sanitarium was successful but the wounds were so severe that death resulted.

Deceased was 32 years old and is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hollowell, two brothers,
Peter and Bert, and one sister, Mrs.
Dora Cohee, all of this county.

The funeral services will be held in the Raleigh Christian church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock,
with Dr. Virgil W. Tevis officiating.
Burial will occur in the Raleigh cemetery.

The sad ending of this unhappy
romance comes as a blow to the many friends and relatives of the deceased. After seemingly well and hearty to suddenly be stricken down
makes the affair all the more sorrowful.

SMOKE CAME FROM THE MARSH LANDS

Rushville Enveloped in a Dense Smoke That Looked Like a London Fog. Doncher Know.

INDIAN SUMMER CAME TOO

Rushville Monday evening was enveloped in a dense cloud of smoke
from the fires in the Kankakee
marsh lands.

The dry underbrush and grass,
parched by a hot sun which has sent its beaming rays earthward
without rain molestation for many weeks, caught fire Sunday morning.
Thousands of dollars' property loss
has resulted and the fire continues unabated. It being Indian summer and the weather typical, the burning of leaves here added to the dense-ness.

CLAIMS WORLD'S RECORD

Henry Miller Performs Wonderful
Feat in Husking Corn.

Henry Miller, colored, living near Gings station, claims the world's record on shucking corn. Last Saturday in the presence of witnesses
and an official timer, he husked forty-six ears in one minute.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE TO BE IN RUSHVILLE

Distinguished Orator Will no Doubt Attract a Large Crowd in This City.

TO MAKE WHIRLWIND FINISH

Senator Beveridge will make a whirlwind campaign in Indiana next week, speaking five days from a special train. During the first day of his Indiana tour Senator Beveridge will deliver fourteen speeches.
On the second day he will deliver eleven, on the third day seven, the fourth day eleven, and on the last day thirteen—a total of sixty-five speeches during the week. Senator Beveridge is one of the foremost orators of the country, and has always been greeted by large crowds.
He will be in Rushville next Wednesday, October 28, and no doubt several thousand will be on hand to hear
our senior senator.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Bridge Whist club will be entertained this evening by Miss Frances Sexton at her home in North Main street.

A box and pie social will be held at the Blackledge school house in Union township on Thursday night, October 23. Miss Anna Gillespie of this city is the teacher.

A splendid program was given on Monday afternoon by the Ladies
Musical at the home of Mrs. A. L.
Aldridge, with Miss Alice Norris as leader.

The program was opened with one of Pope's poetical quotations, given by the leader. Following is the complete program:

Piano Solo—(a) "At an Old Tryst-ing Place;" (b) "Water Lily," by McDowell—Miss Kitchen.
Vocal Solo—"A Memory," by Bar-
onski—Miss Lytle.
Piano Solo—"Scherzo," by Xavier
Carlan, Op. 31—Miss Poundstone.
Whistling Solo—Selections from Iltrovatore—Mrs. Smiley.
Vocal Solo—"A Rose Fable," by Hawley—Mrs. McDaniel.

GIVES COUNTY LARGE FLAG

Talk-It-Over-With-Folsom Had Too Much Red, White and Blue.

"Talk-It-Over-With-Folsom today
presented Rush county with a mammoth flag, twenty-two feet long. It is in the custody of Sheriff King and will be put on the flag staff of the court house.

BODY IS FOUND IN AN OLD POND

James M. Smith Was Found Dead
in Pool of Water South of Milroy Last Night.

IS SURVIVED BY HIS PARENTS

Deceased Was Subject to Epileptic
Fits Which Was the Supposed
Cause of the Accident.

James Milton Smith of Milroy was found dead yesterday evening about 7 o'clock in a pond in the gravel pit
about one mile south of Milroy.
Smith went fishing yesterday afternoon and when he did not return at the usual hour for supper, his father, William Smith, became alarmed and instituted a search. The father looked up and down the river, but could find no traces of his son. He then went back to town and organized a party of men who also searched up and down the banks of the river, but could find no clue of the missing man. The pond in the gravel pit is a popular fishing hole, so the party went to that place and then found Smith's hat floating on the top of the water. The party was then augmented by a large crowd of men.
They dredged the gravel pit pond and then found the lifeless body of Smith. The deceased was subject to epileptic fits and it is supposed that one of these fits came on him
while he was standing on the bank,
and that he fell into the water and
was drowned.

James Smith was 41 years old and is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, who live in Mil-
roy. He was a highly respected member of the community in which he lived and leaves many relatives
and friends to mourn his untimely death.

RESIDENCE FIRED IN UNKNOWN MANNER

Two Story House of William Beggs,
One Mile South of Williamstown Burned.

$1500 LOSS WITH NO INSURANCE

The residence of William Beggs,
one mile south of Williamstown, was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon about three o'clock. Beggs lives in Greensburg but had rented a farm near Williamstown and did not intend to move his household goods
until after the election. It was necessary for him to gather the corn on the place, so he fitted up two rooms
in the house to live in while at work.
While he was in the corn field yesterday afternoon, the house caught on fire in some unknown manner and was completely burned. There was a loss of about $1500 with no insurance.

DEMOCRATS CANNOT SUPPORT BRYAN

Leaders in the Party All Over the Country Quit the Nebraskan Office-Seeker and Come Out for Taft.

"Cleveland Democrats" Refuse to Be Whipped Into Line and Organized to Fight the Man Who Disrupted the Party—Solid South Shows Signs of Breaking Up.

One of the best indications that the Taft and Sherman ticket will sweep the country in November is found in the continued numerous defections of heretofore prominent Democrats from that party. Practically all of them give as a reason that they cannot support the thrice offered candidate and his changeable and unstable theories of government. They simply cannot bring themselves to be identified with Bryan.

Perhaps the most mortifying incidents which the Democrats have experienced in the present campaign were in Massachusetts, where two big men named as Democratic presidential electors declined to serve on the ground that they were unable to support Mr. Bryan and greatly preferred Mr. Taft. These men were Ferdinand Strauss and C. H. P. Gould, of Lyons Falls, both business men of the first rank. Mr. Strauss, especially, has been prominent in the Massachusetts Democracy for a long time. Their declination to serve as Bryan electors caused a sensation in the old Bay State and throughout the country.

Democratic Congressman for Taft
Eugene Walter Leake, Democratic Representative in Congress from New Jersey, called at Republican National Committee headquarters early this month to offer his services on the stump for William H. Taft. Though he has been a staunch Democrat all his life, he is bitterly opposed to William Jennings Bryan and because he believes that the election of Bryan to the Presidency would mean the greatest calamity to the country since the civil war, he is ready to exert himself to the utmost to aid the election of Judge Taft. He is speaking at Republican rallies throughout the Eastern States.

Democrats Organize to Fight Bryan.
That the sentiments felt by these men are shared by many in New York is shown in the organization of the "Cleveland Democracy," an association whose principles are anti-Bryan, and which has been formed, according to the articles of incorporation, "to revive the true spirit of Democracy among the voters of Harlem and of the whole city." Headquarters have been opened and the club is doing active work, not, it is almost unnecessary to say, in the interests of the continuous Nebraska office-seeker.

John R. Dos Passos, a leading New York lawyer and author, who has always been a Democrat, has come out in a long statement announcing his allegiance to Taft and denouncing Bryanism and the remnants of the party which Bryan controls. "I am a Democrat," he says, "I expect to cast my vote for Mr. Taft." William B. Davenport, a well-known Brooklyn Democrat, for many years Public Administrator of Kings County, has denounced the Democratic platform and is now a vice president of the Taft-Sherman Lawyers' Club.

Anti-Bryan Sentiment Widespread.
Former Special City Judge Irving K. Baxter, of Utica, N. Y., who has always been a Democrat, and was elected on that ticket, not only has repudiated Bryan, but will take the stump and advocate the election of Taft and Sherman. Even up in Maine, where the members of the Democratic minority are supposed to be hopelessly bigoted, there is defection. W. H. McLaughlin, of Scarborough, for instance, announces that he has become so disgusted with Bryan in the Haskell controversy that he has swung over to the Republican party.

After hearing Judge Taft speak at St. Louis, J. D. Houseman, of Denver, Colo., a well-known railroad builder, announced his conversion to the Republican party and its candidates. Mr. Houseman had been a loyal Democrat for many years. This incident of course, is a direct tribute to Judge Taft's powers as a campaigner, of which many evidences were produced on his now famous western trip.

"Conversions" in the West.
At St. Joseph, Mo., one of the features was the "conversion" of W. F. Davis, a prominent Democrat, who went to a meeting at the stock yards to see Mr. Taft. After sizing up the latter Mr. Davis declared: "I thought I would vote for Mr. Bryan, but this man surely looks good to me." Another Missouri Democrat, E. B. Haywood, a Burlington Railroad conductor of St. Louis, evidently was similarly impressed; at any rate, he has announced that Taft will get his vote. Noticeable among the vice presidents at the Taft reception at St. Louis were James E. Smith, head of the St. Louis Business Men's League, and Frederick N. Judson, well-known lawyer, both Democrats who have declared their intention of supporting Taft.

Some readers will remember that in 1900 Webster Davis, former mayor of Kansas City, and assistant secretary of the interior under McKinley, bolted McKinley to take the stump for Bryan. Well, Webb Davis now lives in Los Angeles, and is back in the Republican line, this time to stay, he declares. Says Taft is going to win and he is boosting him all he can.

In Chicago the Business Men's Taft and Sherman Club has been doing strong work in the campaign. Two of the organizers of the club were former Democrats. They are Franklin MacVeagh, wholesale grocer, and Frank H. Jones, secretary of the American Trust and Savings Bank.

Antagonism to Bryan in South.
A former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., spoke to a correspondent for the Baltimore American, as follows: "I can give you the names of 100 prominent men in this community who hope for Bryan's defeat. They are not going about beating drums or proclaiming their intentions from the house-tops, but they mean to vote the Republican ticket. They are tired of supporting a candidate who has always some sad to offer that is fundamentally wrong and foolish."

A special correspondent of the New York Evening Post, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "There is every evidence on the surface now that the Republican vote in Georgia will be the largest ever cast."

Jerome Hill, a Tennessee capitalist and cotton broker, well known in the South, writes to the Chattanooga Star saying that he has abandoned Democracy and will vote for Taft. "A man like myself," he declares, who was four years in Lee's army and for forty years a Jeffersonian Democrat, fails to see in this modern mongrel Democracy anything to appeal to him as a patriot or for the best interests of himself or his people. From sea to sea this country is prosperous. The question is, Shall we destroy this most healthy condition by the election of Mr. Bryan, with his many theories and impracticable suggestions?" He answers that he will support Taft. He says there are thousands of former Confederates in Tennessee who are with him.

William Weems, a lifelong Democrat of Frederick, Md., has announced that he will not support Bryan at the election. "Bryan is too chimerical in his views for the chief executive of a great nation," says Mr. Weems.

John R. Dorsey, of Baltimore, vice-president of the William E. Hooper & Son Company, manufacturers of cotton duck, is another of the many Baltimore Democrats who have come out warmly for Taft.

Gen. Simon Buckner, who ran with Palmer on the gold Democratic presidential ticket, in an interview in Baltimore, said that Bryan was not a Democrat and that he intended to vote for Taft. "Bryan is a populist and a socialist," said the general. These examples are only a few of a countless number all over the country which could be enumerated. Yet they serve sufficiently to show the popular state of mind.

THE ADMITTED SUPREMACY OF AMERICA.

is chiefly due to the fact that its workmen are better fed than those of any other country.

In the Spanish-American War it was "the man behind the gun" who made the American victory so quick and decisive.

And it is due to "the man behind the gun" in the factory—the workman—that American manufacturing is capturing the markets of the world.

The American workman can do more work and better work than any other workman because he is full of energy and vim—because of his better food, clothing and home conditions.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY has protected him against the cheap labor of Europe.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY has by wise and far-seeing laws built up American trade to such an extent that the American workman is paid almost three times the wages of European workmen.

If the working men of the United States want these conditions to continue they will vote for the party which has created high wages, namely .

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Function of Next Administration.

(Judge Taft at St. Louis, October 6.)
"The function of the next administration is not to be spectacular in the enactment of great statutes laying down new codes of morals, or asserting a new standard of business integrity, but its work lies in the details of furnishing men and machinery to aid the hand of the Executive in making the supervision of the transactions so close, so careful, so constant, that the business men engaged in it may know promptly when they are transgressing the line of lawful business limitations and may be brought up standing whenever this occurs and may be prosecuted where the violations of law are flagrant and defiant, and promptly restrained and penalized."

Some of the Democratic newspapers recognize the situation well enough to begin already to pick out Cabinet officers for President Taft, but that is something that President Taft can do much better himself.—Philadelphia Press.

WOMAN'S RUSE TO GET A BABY

She Palmed Off Another's as Her Very Own.

FOOLED EVEN HER HUSBAND

The Real Mother of the Baby, However, Shortly Regretted Giving Up Her Little One, and Upon Making Demand for the Restoration of the Child the Remarkable Story of How Mrs. McIntyre Deceived Even Her Own Husband and Mother Was Brought to Light.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 20.—An extraordinary case of a "fake baby," which had deceived its "father," its "grandmother" and all the inquisitive women of the neighborhood has been uncovered by the police of Jeffersonville. Had not the true mother of the infant been seized with a longing for her baby, it is likely the little girl would have grown up as the child of George and Goldie McIntyre.

Mrs. McIntyre, whose only child died about a year ago, went with a neighbor to a hospital in the absence of her husband, and there they got the two-weeks-old baby of a Kentucky woman. Returning home, Mrs. McIntyre so successfully carried out the representation that she was the child's mother that even Mrs. McIntyre's mother was deceived and McIntyre was overjoyed when he returned home.

Then the Kentucky woman repented having given her baby away and went to the McIntyre home and got it. McIntyre was away, and Mrs. McIntyre attempted to deceive him by telling him that evening the baby had been kidnapped. The room had been torn up to add proof to this statement, McIntyre told the police, and the truth was soon learned.

HERO OF SHIRLEY FIRE

This Distinction Belongs to "Bull," a Vagabond Pup.

Shirley, Ind., Oct. 20.—A remarkable story of escape from death in the fire which destroyed Shirley's business center is being told by Homer Duke, a glassworker. Duke slept in a frame building used as a storage house by the T. M. Norton Brewing company of Anderson. In the old shack with him was a bulldog, a town vag that was thought to be good for nothing. "Bull" is a hero today and has won the title of "The Shirley Salvage Corps." While the fire was sweeping the town Duke slept on without knowledge of his danger. The storage-house caught fire and was a mass of flames when "Bull," awakened by the fire and smoke, ran to Duke's cot and pulled the bedclothing from him. Duke was already slightly under the influence of the smoke, and did not heed the dog's removal of the clothing. The dog was not to be denied the title of hero, however, for he jumped on the cot and sank his teeth deep in the back of Duke's neck. This brought the half-stuffed glassworker to his senses, and, led by "Bull," he groped his way out of the building a moment before the roof fell in. Duke has the marks of the dog's teeth in the back of his neck to prove his story. "Bull" has had several opportunities to be adopted since the story came out, but Duke justly lays claim to the old vagabond, and will keep him as long as he lives.

Caught at the Crossing.

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 20.—Zachariah and Virgil M. Williams, twenty and thirteen years old respectively, were killed when a Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern freight train struck a wagon in which they were riding, at Lawrenceville Junction, seven miles west of Vincennes. On the seat with the young men were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, well-known farmers. Neither father nor mother was severely injured, although the wagon was hurled seventy-five feet. In the wagon were six other persons, all of whom escaped injury except Mrs. Albert Brubeck and Mrs. Frank Bracken. These women suffered concussion of the brain and their death is expected. The party was returning home from a political meeting near this city.

Fire Loss on the Kankakee.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 20.—The fires in the Kankakee marshes have resulted in the destruction of thousands of dollars' worth of property. The greatest loss occurred on the Brown ranch, near Shelby. The fire ran over 2,000 acres of land. Sheep that were grazing on the land could not escape and forty-six head perished in the flames. Twenty-three others were so badly burned they had to be killed.

Thieves Make Rich Haul.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 20.—More than $1,000 worth of diamonds, jewelry and silverware was stolen from the residence of Paul Comstock, an attorney here. The police have no clue. The house was entered while Mr. and Mrs. Comstock were away from home. They were not absent more than an hour, and when they returned found every room had been ransacked.

In and Around Fairview.

There was a bit of excitement in the neighborhood Wednesday, when the brisk wind that was blowing fanned some fires that were smoldering in a clearing on the farm of Ed Dolan south of Fairview to burning. A fresh stubble field adjoining caught fire, it soon got beyond control and a telephone call was sent through the neighborhood for aid and it was not long until about forty men were hard at work fighting fire, but it was not until it had burned over between forty-five and fifty acres on the Dolan farm. The Garrett Wikoff farm which joins Dollans on the north, that they got it under control. At one time the fire was dangerously near the Dolan barn, also near a large straw stack on the Wikoff farm. Messrs Dolan and Wikoff's loss is no small one as we have learned that most of the land that was burnt over was sown in clover last spring, also quite a number of posts in wire fencing were burnt off.

F. W. Folsom of Rushville was in Fairview on business Wednesday evening.

They Have Not Changed.
Many significant hints of the attitude of the business community toward Mr. Bryan are coming to light as the campaign draws toward its close. Not the least significant of these is the announcement that two men of standing, named by the Bryan organization in Massachusetts as presidential electors, have notified the Democratic state committee that they would not be able in any case to serve as Bryan electors because they are for Taft. It must be rather demoralizing to a party to find the men whom it has chosen as its special representatives and trustees opposed to its leading candidate, but the poor, battered, shop worn, bedraggled, maundering Bryan organization—if organization it can be called—is likely to encounter a good many such surprises between now and election day.

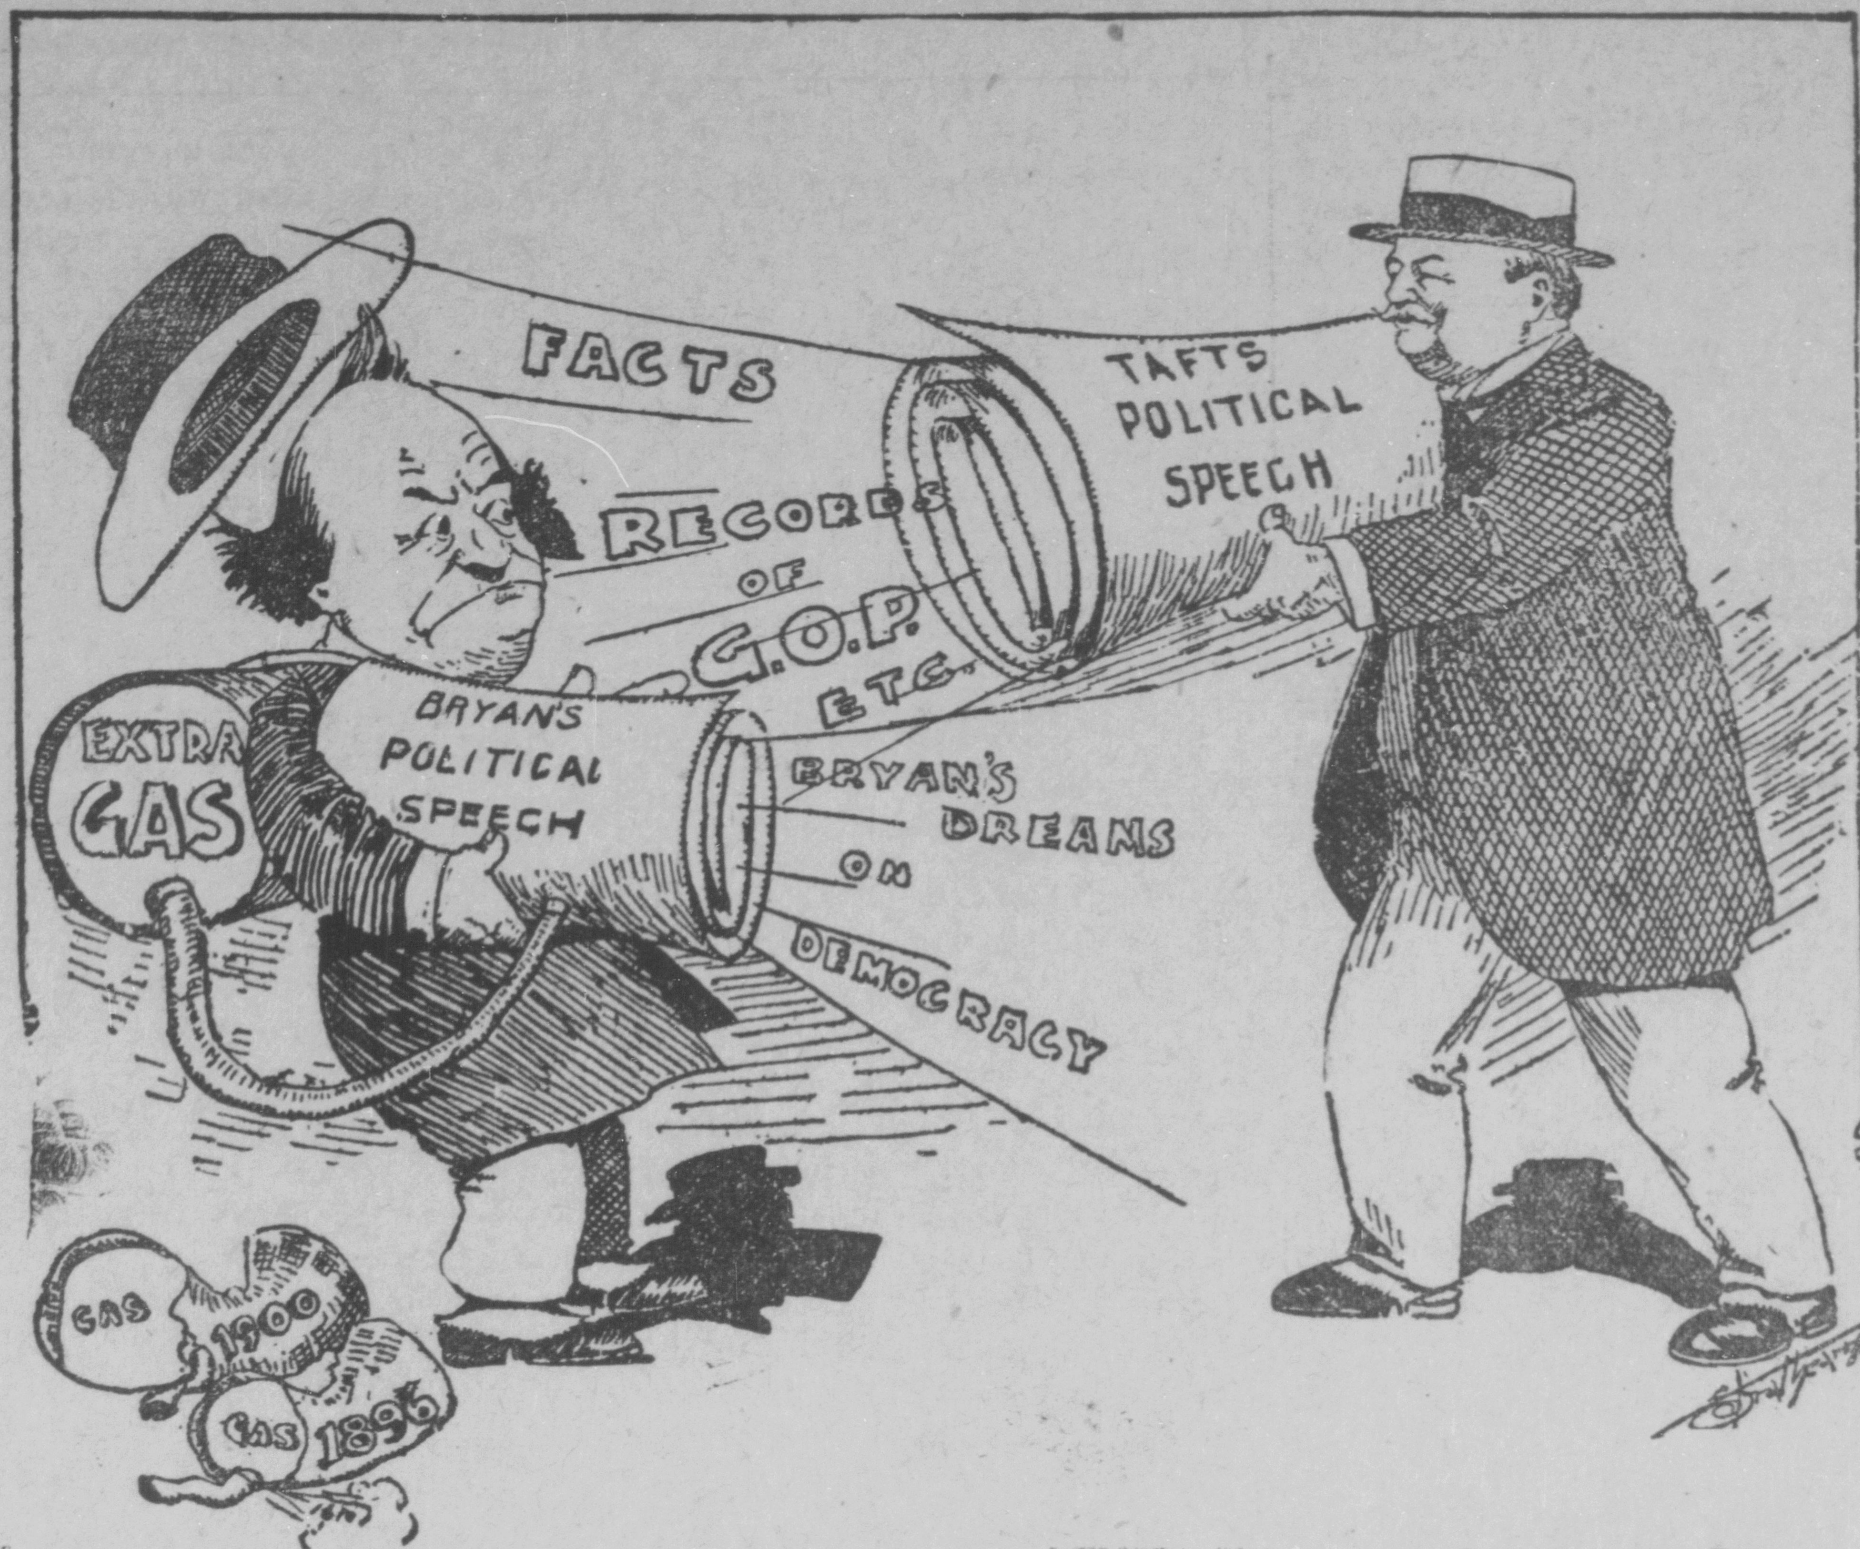

Bryanites have boasted a solitary conversion here and there from the ranks of the gold Democrats who opposed Bryan when he made free silver the paramount issue in 1906. From careful analysis, however, it will be found that the list of such conversions is made up chiefly of men who were active in party politics and desired again to have a hand in party control. This is no reflection on them, for some of them are undoubtedly actuated by the hope that they can bring the organization which they loved in the days of Tilden and Cleveland back to sanity and safety. Probably no one recognizes better than these men that the most effective aid to their labors will be another crushing defeat of Bryan and Bryanism. The field might then be clear for the organization of a Democratic party capable of self respect and of adherence to its best traditions. A large class of these men are well represented by the distinguished international lawyer and author, John R. Dos Passos, who says in a public letter:

"I am a Democrat. I expect to cast my vote for Mr. Taft. The primary motive is that there is no Democratic party in existence. Since Mr. Bryan has controlled the organization the spirit, the elan, of the Democratic party has disappeared."

Mr. Bryan has tried with all his craft to put to sleep the alarm of business men by his attitude in the present campaign. He has maintained the silence of the grave, even on the plank of the Denver platform which declares for further issues of government paper. Thus far, however, wild horses have not been able to draw from him a distinct repudiation of free silver nor a straightforward promise that he would use his discretion to the best of his ability in maintaining public credit in time of stress. This is one of the vital issues of the campaign, much as Mr. Bryan would like to have it obscured and forgotten. No wonder that the residence wards of Chicago, the homes of the substantial business men of the city, show a tremendous registration. Quiet though they have been thus far, the business men of the country are evidently prepared to put a quietus on Bryan which ought to be final and conclusive and permit sane Democrats to reorganize their party upon a basis which will appeal to those who gave it character in days gone by.

Taft's New York Majority.
Those people, east and west, who are looking anxiously for political signs should not miss one of the largest significance regarding the result in the Empire State of New York. Upper Manhattan Island—that is, the upper part of the old city of New York—which is mainly Republican, shows a large increase of registration, while those sections of the lower part of the city, from which Tammany draws its fraudulent majorities, shows an equally significant decrease. While the increase in upper New York proves that the intelligent population of that section is rallying with greater earnestness than ever to the support of Taft and Sherman and of a Republican administration in the interest of all that tends to make the country prosperous, the decreased registration from the haunts of Tammany thugs and repeaters indicates that the Republican vote is not to be offset this year by fraudulent Democratic ballots. It is and has been for years a crying shame that the vote of the great and often pivotal state of New York should be so largely affected by ballot box stuffers, who appear to have been, according to sworn evidence in recent cases, in the pay of politicians closely connected with Democratic local leadership and acting in the interest of Democratic candidates. The Republican legislature of New York has sought to remedy this wrong by surrounding registration with certain safeguards which do not hamper the honest voter, no matter how illiterate or poor he may be, but which are calculated to deter the repeater and ballot box stuffer from going to the polls. The fact that thousands have been afraid to face the test is proof of the extent to which fraud has figured in New York city elections in the past and is also an assurance, along with increased Republican registration, that the majority for Taft and Sherman in the Empire State will exceed considerably the conservative estimates made earlier in the campaign.

THE DUEL OF WORDS.

The Wildcat Candidate—Bryan and Business Interests.

In his writings dealing with the early part of the war Albert D. Richardson tells of going to bed one evening with $70 in his pocket and waking up with $20. Nobody had touched his pocket. The bank bills were there, but between the hours of retiring and rising those bank bills had diminished in value from $70 to $20.

That was Democratic money. The Democratic party had just gone out of power. It had been in power for many, many years, and its idea of the sort of currency for American men of business to try to do business with is indicated in the incident related by Mr. Richardson. History tells how the Republican party took hold of Democratic wildcat money and throttled it with the national banking law, and dollars no longer melt away in pockets while the owner is sleeping.

The Democratic wildcat, however, is still on the rampage. It has the same fur and claws and tail, the worse for age, it is true, and considerably the worse for experience. Like the Bourbons, it has neither learned nor forgotten anything and is just as ready to make cats and dogs of American currency and American business interests as it was in the days of Buchanan.

Bryan's guaranty of bank deposits means, in brief, that the safe, careful, conservative bank in which John Smith deposits his money is to be made responsible for the wildcat concern in which John Jones deposits his and whose funds have been loaned out, perhaps under cover of legality, on worthless paper to speculators and schemers. The Democrats were always tenderly inclined toward institutions of the class last mentioned, and it is not strange to find the Democratic candidate for the presidency wanting to safeguard the delinquent bank and its wildcat loans with the money belonging to the stockholders of banks that are faithfully and soundly managed.

The scheme, which is just about as sound as Bryan's free silver penance of twelve years ago, is a fair measure of the caliber of the man and of his capacity for doing mischief to the business interests of the United States should he be endowed with the power which attaches to the office of president. It also indicates to business men the folly of giving any comfort or encouragement to the Bryanite agitation.

How Has Bryan Grown?

One of the pleas most insistently urged in behalf of Mr. Bryan is that he has grown and broadened since his last campaign and is therefore more worthy of public confidence. There is something in this plea. That there was room for improvement in Mr. Bryan's intellectual structure is sufficiently indicated by the following remarkable extract from his speech in Salem, Ill., Oct. 8, 1900:

"The Republicans will buy every vote that can be bought. They will coerce every vote that can be coerced. They will intimidate every laboring man who can be intimidated. They will bribe every election judge who can be bribed. They will corrupt every court that can be corrupted."

That utterance, be it remembered, came from the presidential candidate of a great political party. It was launched against another great party then engaged in the honorable campaign to re-elect President William McKinley, whose victory four years before had sounded the knell of Bryanism and rescued the government from impending repudiation and dishonor.

Never before had the people heard away from his record. He cannot, however hard he may try.

which Mr. Bryan was guilty in his Salem speech. And, inasmuch as the Democratic party, in spite of all its shortcomings, has always insisted upon a certain amount of dignity and self respect on the part of its candidates for the presidency, it is reasonably certain that there will be no repetition of the offense by its representative in the present campaign.

Truly, Mr. Bryan has grown, but how—in real wisdom or merely in self restraint and craftiness? He appeals for harmony, yet he has never recanted the doctrines which plunged his party into confusion and twice defeated it. He begs for popular confidence, yet at heart he is still pledged to the reckless policies which in two successive campaigns made him an object of national suspicion. He has grown in discretion, but there is no evidence to show that beneath the surface he is really other than Bryan, the cheap politician, who maliciously insulted the supporters of William McKinley in his vulgar speech at Salem eight years ago.

It isn't a phonograph that you hear persistently emitting the doleful phrase, "Anti-injunction, anti-injunction!" It comes from a real, live, big green parrot, which Mr. Bryan totes in a beautiful brass cage.

Happy Thought For Mr. Bryan.
A merciful Providence fashioned us hol low
So that we might our principles swallow.

—James Russell Lowell.

A Pertinent Question.

(Indianapolis Star.)

A correspondent solicits information to-wit:

Why is it that the Indianapolis News, long an implacable antagonist of breweries and saloons, a prominent and effective agency in the adoption of a county option plank in the Republican platform, is silent now, when the issue between the saloons and the people is brought to a crisis, as never before?

"Is it that the News is disgruntled because it could not name the nominee at Chicago or the candidate for governor?"

"Or is it, on the other hand, that, having built up a powerful club to wield over the brewery interests, it has made its terms with them, on a basis of advertising or otherwise, and sulks in its tent while the battle is on?"

We cannot say. We only know that the temperance people of Indiana, who never needed help in a crucial time as they need it now, are pained and perplexed at the indifference of their old professed friend and ally, and feel driven to the conclusion that its operations against the brewers were either actuated by some other motive than tangible results of reform, or else, as the correspondent suggests, its original motive has been sidetracked or superseded by another and less worthy one.

Tradition gives no glory to the soldier who was hell on dress parade but missing when the bullets began to fly.

Mr. Bryan is so fond of theorizing upon governmental processes that he shouldn't complain because the people prefer to let him be president in theory only.

Bryan will be convinced for the third time in November that this country has got the habit.

Mr. Bryan says he is not running away from his record. He cannot, however hard he may try.

—Los Angeles Express.

Bryan and the Taxing Power.

Mr. Bryan's frequent allusions on the stump to what he calls "the tax eaters" is a reminder that his views on the taxing power have always been at variance with those of sounder authorities on economic problems. In an address before the students at Chicago university on Sept. 10, 1896, he propounded the question, "Is there any just rule for the collecting of taxes?" which he answered in the negative. From his viewpoint the answer is entirely plausible and consistent. He is committed to policies which, if practicable and operative, would make the collecting of taxes both needless and absurd. His method is described in the following extract from a speech which he delivered in Memphis:

"We insist that legislation can undo what legislation did. We insist that the opening of our mints will create a demand which the closing of our mints destroyed and that the demand for silver will raise the price of silver bullion to $129 anywhere in the world."

The cardinal principle of Mr. Bryan's philosophy is that wealth is created by legislation rather than by labor. He holds that the government by mere fiat can fix the value of commodities which are produced by competitive enterprise and disposed of in competitive markets. He uses silver to illustrate his plan and would have the public believe that the United States alone and unaided could by mere legislative enactment treble the price of silver bullion everywhere in the world. It is obvious, however, that if the government can do any such thing with silver it can do likewise with wheat, wool, pig iron, mess pork or any other staple product of labor.

It follows, therefore, that if values may be created by legislation instead of by toil the exercise of the taxing power by the government for the purpose of raising revenue is an act of tyranny which should not be tolerated for a single day. If money can be created by fiat, as Mr. Bryan has so constantly insisted, the government should be always rich instead of always poor, and all taxes should be repealed. Moreover, if the value of each man's property can be doubled or trebled by a mere act of congress without injury to the interests of others the sooner it is done the better. After that the next step should be the enactment of laws abolishing poverty and making good health contagious. They are indisputable corollaries of free silver coinage.

Mr. Bryan's idea of the taxing power as shown by his views on the money question is not a whit more ridiculous than his crude doctrines as to public ownership and the treatment of interstate corporations. His policy would transform the government into a gambler and the monopolist with unrestricted power to crush competition, inflate values and juggle with the property of the people as personal ambition or party expediency might dictate.

Englishman (in British museum)—This book, sir, was once owned by Cleopatra. American Tourist—Pshaw! that's nothing! Why, in one of our American museums we have the leaf-paned with which Noah used to check off the animals as they came out of the ark.

Exclusive.

"Now that your son's in college, I suppose he'll be getting exclusive; he'll be getting into the Four Hundred."

"Oh, he's more exclusive than that! He's on the nine already"—Exchange.

While the Republican party does not favor the guarantee of bank deposits, it gets right down to first principles by guaranteeing that one will have something to deposit.

The Perfect Corset for Large Women

It places over-developed women on the same basis as their slender sisters. It tapers off the bust, flattens the abdomen, and absolutely reduces the hips from 1 to 5 inches. Not a harness—not a cumbersome affair, no torturing straps, but the most scientific example of corsetry, boned in such a manner as to give the wearer absolute freedom of movement.

New W. B. Reduse No. 770 for large tall women. Made of white coutil. Hose supporters front and sides, also made in batiste. Sizes 20 to 36. Price $3.00.

New W. B. Reduse No. 772 for large short women, is the same as No. 770, except that the bust is somewhat lower all around. Made of white coutil. Hose supporters front and sides. Also made in batiste. Sizes 20 to 36. Price $3.00.

The Books Are Opened!
Read! Meditate! Figure!
A local paper has asked that the county books be opened. It has intimated that the disclosures might be startling. Such has been the case.
The county tax levy is less than 50 cents on the $100 and is levied equally throughout the county. The township trustee, together with his advisory board, levies the tax in his township, and he and they are responsible for the levy.
The table below shows the levy in each of the townships, seven of which are under Republican rule and five under Democratic rule. From the Democratic rule we would expect the lowest rate in the Democratic townships.
What does the record show?
The average rate of taxes in the five Democratic townships levied last September is 21 11/14 cents higher than the average in the seven Republican townships.
For the 1907 the average in the Democratic townships was 24 3/7 cents higher than in the Republican townships.
For 1906 the Democratic townships asked 36 39/70 cents on the hundred dollars MORE than the Republican townships, and for 1905 they were 23 1/5 cents higher.
Does this prove Democratic economy and Republican extravagance?
You who live in Democratic townships can, by a little calculation, find exactly what Democracy in your township has cost you campaign." He knows those saloons of old and he knows his election will keep them at their old stand, and he smiles. That's all. According to this new "Daniel come to judgment," colleges and the preachers have no business in politics, for they are all against him, but the brewers, saloonists and gamblers are doing a patriotic duty to get in the campaign for they are for him.

In base ball, foot ball and other sports, while it is very desirable to win the game, it is far more important that those who engage in them should "play the game." By this we mean that games and matches should be played for the pleasure, relaxation, wholesome rivalry and benefits they are intended to give. When this is the dominant motive for engaging in them, and not that of winning by fair means or foul, there is a supreme satisfaction to both players and spectators.

The absence of this true motive often breeds ill feeling, dissatisfaction and unsportsmanlike play. And it is this which leads to the well grounded suspicion that many games between first class players are not honestly won. The recent display of rowdiness and charges and counter charges of unfair decision by umpires in connection with some of the league games was but the natural result of the mercenary and unsportsmanlike spirit altogether too prevalent. Let players strive their utmost honestly to win the game, but above all let them "play the game."

AMUSEMENTS

If press notices and large box office receipts have anything to do with the success of an attraction, "The Fighting Parson" surely will get the prize. Ever since its first performances, press notices have been showered upon it and the box office reports have never been reached by another attraction playing in the popular priced houses.

W. F. Mann, producer of "The Fighting Parson," has arranged for his newest success to appear at the Grand next Thursday, October 22.

There was a complete change of program at the Vaudet last night.

"The Excursion in Italy" at the Grand last night and tonight takes one through Venice, also ancient and modern Rome, showing a volcano in action. "The Whimsical People" is a hand colored comic film. A new song is sung.

Barn Dance Not Danced in a Barn

If you have seen a crowd of school girls skipping along the walk, going first in one direction and then another; gyrating in a circle, pinning around with the evolutions of a dervish, shooting forward and backward and then springing in the air, don't worry yourself into a frenzy over the mental condition of these girls because they are perfectly sane. What they were doing was a perfectly legitimate and dignified thing, a thing which you would have done when you were young had you known anything about the "barn dance."

The "barn dance" is a fad which has taken Rushville by storm. It came before the horse show was thought of. If you haven't already seen it, you'll have no difficulty in gratifying your curiosity if you live near a school house. It manifests itself most strenuously in girls of from ten to fifteen years. The first symptoms are an inclination to wriggle while walking. This wriggle grows in scope and intensity as the malady progresses. In the course of a day or two the patient's early diffidence gives away and then in place of the wriggle comes the jerk, and after the jerk the spasm or paroxysm.

In its most violent form the "barn dance" takes its victim backward with about the same velocity as forward, and then to add variety it shoots her up in the air where she dangles until gravity gains the mastery and pulls her back where she belongs.

Girls and others possessed of the "barn dance" are just like other folks that dance except that they perform without music and the "barn dance" is considerably like other dances except that it is not danced in a barn. Sometimes they are found humming or whistling "Morning Si."

NEW POSTAGE STAMPS.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Uncle Sam's new series of postage stamps, to replace the designs now current, will soon be ready for distribution, and the stickers will be placed on sale at postoffices throughout the country by the last of the month or early in November. Edward Ralph, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, acting under the direction of Postmaster General Meyer has produced designs for the new series which are declared by competent authorities to be the most artistic in the history of the United States postoffice department.

The colors of the stamps will be the same for each denomination as those now current, and the historical characters now commemorated will not be changed. The chief departure is in the position of the faces. At present full face portraits are shown on all the stamps, but the new set will present a clear cut profile view. Mr. Ralph is enthusiastic over the Postmaster General's design and says the stamps will be the finest ever issued by the government.

PROMOTE BIBLE STUDY.

Columbus, O., Oct. 20.—One of the most important conventions for the promotion of Bible study ever held in America will convene in Columbus this week, and many distinguished delegates are already arriving. The gathering will be known as the International Bible Convention, and was planned by the leaders of the World's Student Christian Federation for the advancement of the intelligent study and use of the English Bible. The reading of the Bible in public schools of the country will be one of the important matters considered.

In a number of Indiana cities the good citizens are so indignant about the brewers' posters that they refuse to let anyone put them up.

The brewers of the State are still making a desperate effort against county local option. Candidate Marshall says he is no tool of the brewers and yet all of them and all saloonkeepers and dive-keepers are supporting him to a man. A man is known by the company he keeps.

In communities throughout the State where the saloons have been abolished by remonstrance, the general improvement in the morals as well as the prosperity of the community has been such an object lesson to the Democrats that many will support the Republican ticket—especially the governor and the legislature.

Many of the better class of Democrats throughout the State will vote for Watson and Taft. These Democrats are not saying much during the present campaign, but their minds are made up. They will vote for Watson on account of the local option law, and the brewery alliance with their party. They will vote for Taft because they know the business interests and the welfare of the country demands that Taft be the next president.

Congressman Eugene W. Leake, one of the Democratic members of Congress from New Jersey, has volunteered to take the stump in behalf of Judge Taft. Though he has been a staunch Democrat all his life, he is bitterly opposed to the election of William Jennings Bryan, and believing that the election of Bryan to the Presidency would mean the greatest calamity to the country since the civil war, he is ready to exert himself to the utmost to aid the election of Judge Taft.

Among the trustees of Wabash college, the good little Presbyterian school at Crawfordsville, is the Democratic candidate for Governor. Asked in that town how he liked to see the saloons shadowing the college and tempting its students, he smiled in his cynical Marshall way and said: "Wabash is not in this

THIS MATTER OF SMOKE. We are sure that our view of the cigar business is unusual. Most druggists and all cigar dealers sell cigars to make money. We sell them to make friends—and money too in the long run. We want to get smokers into the store and let them judge what kind of a business we conduct by the kind of a cigar they get. In cigars as in drugs we get the best that money can buy.

COTTON ADVISES LOCAL TEACHERS

Quite a good deal of comment has been aroused among the new teachers of Rush county, each of whom has received a letter of advice from State Superintendent of Instruction. He points out to them especially the value of preparation and of painstaking care in the day's work. He says that a "teacher's attitude as a learner will measure his teaching ability." Mr. Cotton's letter is as follows:

The General Assembly of 1907 placed upon the statutes of Indiana a law requiring that all persons entering the profession of teaching after Aug. 1, 1908, shall be graduates of high schools and shall have done at least twelve weeks of successful work in some school maintaining courses in professional training. This was a large advance step in qualifications, both in scholarship and in professional training. Under the law and its interpretation by the State Teachers' Training Board, you are teaching your first school, and through you the first test of the law is being made. Through you, in a certain sense, the law must stand or fall.

Some of you have grown up in town or city and have had very little country experience. Now, if you try to teach a city or town school in the country you will not succeed. You may carry your knowledge to the country, but you must cast it in rural terms and must adjust yourself completely to country life and interests and ways. You will succeed just in the degree in which you are able to do this. And let me emphasize for you that this pertains to the whole country life. You must live the life and be part of it this winter. The interests of the parents and of the boys and girls must be yours. You are called to teach, not to instruct alone. You can do this only by adjusting yourself to your new environment. Your attitude as observers and as learners will measure your ability to teach. This should be a supreme test of your culture.

Last year one young woman quit teaching school at the end of two weeks because "they made me wash every morning in the tin wash basin." Another resigned because "I had to walk a mile and a half to school and eat a cold dinner." Another quit later in the year because "I had to sleep in a room without a fire." Surely no healthy, well-bred young man or woman would let such trifles as these stand in the way of success.

However, where these failed others succeeded and hold better places this year.

I have just said that your attitude as learners will measure your teaching ability. It is not so much the knowledge you bring as your ability so to use your knowledge as to make it tell in your work. And your ability so to use your knowledge as to make it tell in your work. And your ability to use what you know will depend directly upon your keenness as an observer and your humility and tact as a learner. If you will but keep your eyes and ears open, not a day will pass without the opportunity to learn some lesson of larger value than any you ever learned at school from some farmer or farmer's wife and children. If your scholarship and professional training have left you without plain common sense you will never be able to teach school anywhere.

Not very friendly critics will compare your work with that of former teachers who did not have your educational advantages. The friends of those whom you and the new law deprived of places will of course be prejudiced against you, and these you will have to convince and win by your good work. The opposition that you will encounter will be largely from those who sincerely feel that they have not been treated exactly fair, but all you have to do to prove the wisdom of the new law is to teach school.

If there is one thing that will justify these new laws it is your complete success this year in your work. If there is one thing more than another that will contribute to your success it is work—good, honest, daily effort. Make careful daily preparation. Go to your work each morning with a sense of preparedness. Let no outside pleasure interfere with this first duty. Make your assignments definite and accurate and see that each recitation accomplishes its purpose. You should make a careful study of the recitation and the assignment in the appendix to the township institute outlines.

Let this letter be a personal appeal to you. Your best work every recitation, every hour, every day is desired. You owe it to the children, the community, the State and yourselves to succeed at any cost. You are to show your communities that it is worth while to prepare to teach school. No one is more interested in your final success than I am.

It was a "horse on" those who thought the show would not be a big affair.

That big horse shoe studded with electric lights is the "luckiest" thing in the whole decorative scheme.

The race course is about one-third of a mile in length. The horses are started on First street in the west end of the city, and race to Main street. Frank Jones is the starting judge and Bruce Graham and Rus. Bebout, the "finishing" judges.

Types of Female Beauty.
In northern Europe, among the Teutonic races, there are distinct types of beauty to be met with in Sweden, Poland, Saxony and Austria. The Swedish type, however, lacks animation, but the mold and figure to some extent atone for this, says the London Globe. The Austrian women possess a composite beauty in which are united the charms of three or four races. Vienna ladies are tall and stately, with great harmony and proportion in feature and figure. The Tyrolean maiden often lacks a good figure, but her face and manner possess all that is most bewitching in the two races of which she is composed, Latin and Germanic.

She gave him her brightest smile. "Oh, no!" she said sweetly. "I shall see that at the academy, you know."—Exchange.

Chapter 57

COULD hardly have supposed that there were as many people in the whole world put together as at Coney Island, and most of them were in pairs, like the animals on their way to the ark. They all seemed to be engaged to each other and delighted with each other's society, or else married and dreadfully tired of it. Or else they had dyspepsia. Or else they had brought too many of their children, for they had droves of very small ones, who bellowed louder than any English children I ever saw and tyrannized over their parents in the most unbridled way.

But Coney Island was fun, and I felt more than ever that I was dreaming—a long, long dream of sands and huge hotels and queer little booths.

For dinner we ate nothing but fish, of so many different kinds and some of them so strange, that I almost feared the dream might turn into a nightmare afterward. I found the clams rather like olives. You hate the first, but when you have had three you feel you would like three dozen, and they are not at all easy to forget.

We went down under the sea and were introduced to horrible monsters, sailed up and down on switchbacks,

Coney Island was fun.

which made Mrs. Ess Kay ill, but she nobly refused to desert me in such surroundings—a state of mind which made her chin look incredibly square. Eventually, after many adventures by the way, we arrived at the moon, and not only got into the middle of it, but made acquaintance with the inhabitants, none of whom appeared to be over two feet high or to have anything to speak of between their chins and their toes. After that experience, minstrel shows and concerts and persons who told your fortunes with snakes, or ate glass, were rather an anticlimax; still, I enjoyed them all so much that I was incapable of extreme annoyance when we discovered that the Evening Bat had an "impressionist sketch" of me which made me look like an elderly murderer.

We got back to New York almost indecently late, but in the meaner parts through which we had to pass on the way to our gorgeousness the streets swarmed with poor creatures, pallid with heat, evidently preparing to camp out of doors till morning. It was a strange and interesting sight, but made me feel guilty when I recalled it afterward in my great cool bedroom, with my five different kinds of baths.

Next morning I was waked early to find more presents of flowers in huge stacks and to get ready for West Point. I was a little tired from yesterday, and the dry heat gave me rather the sensation of being a scientist's field mouse in a vacuum, so that I should have dreaded even a short journey if we hadn't been making it by water.

It was even better than if we had been ordinary tourists on one of the big Hudson river boats I had heard about, for we were to travel luxuriously in a little steam yacht of Potter's, which he calls the Poached Egg because it can't be beaten. It is not a vulgar yacht, as one might have thought from the name, but a dainty thing that ought to have been the Butterfly, Ye White Lady or something of that sort. When I said so, Mr. Parker insisted that he would at once rechristen her Lady Betty, which would have a prettier meaning than anything else, and then I was sorry I'd spoken.

I had expected to be disappointed in the river, because nearly everybody I met on board ship tried to impress upon me that we had nothing half so good in England, while as for the Rhine, it wasn't a patch on the Hudson. I even wanted to be disappointed, out of patriotism or spite, which are much the same thing sometimes, but I couldn't. I found the Hudson too grand for petty jealousy. It seemed to me like a great, noble poem, rolling on and on in splendid cadences, and I have heard some music of Wagner's that it reminded me of somehow.

The hills or mountains—I'm not sure which to call them—even the Palisades which have been so dinned into my ears, were not high enough to satisfy me at a first glance, but soon I saw that it was their grouping and their perfect proportion in relation to each other which made them so exquisite. As we steamed on along the green and golden flood between banks that appeared to fall back in admiration I began to love the Hudson so much that I could have shrieked with rage at the great staring advertisements on boardings. What can the scenery have done to Americans that they should do their best to spoil it? No wonder most of them come over to see ours, which we have the sense to let alone even if it crumbles.

Sally and Mr. Parker laughed at my fury, but I didn't see how they could take it so calmly. "It isn't my scenery, so I don't trouble myself," said Potter when I asked why he didn't get up a secret night expedition to burn or chop down all the boardings. But I'm sure English people aren't careless like that. Each person thinks the good of the whole country is his business—at least one would suppose so by the way everybody who comes to Battlemead talks politics and affairs of public interest morning, noon and night. It seems, though, in America only policemen and people who live in Washington care about politics really except to get benefits for themselves, and it isn't good form to be too much interested in such things.

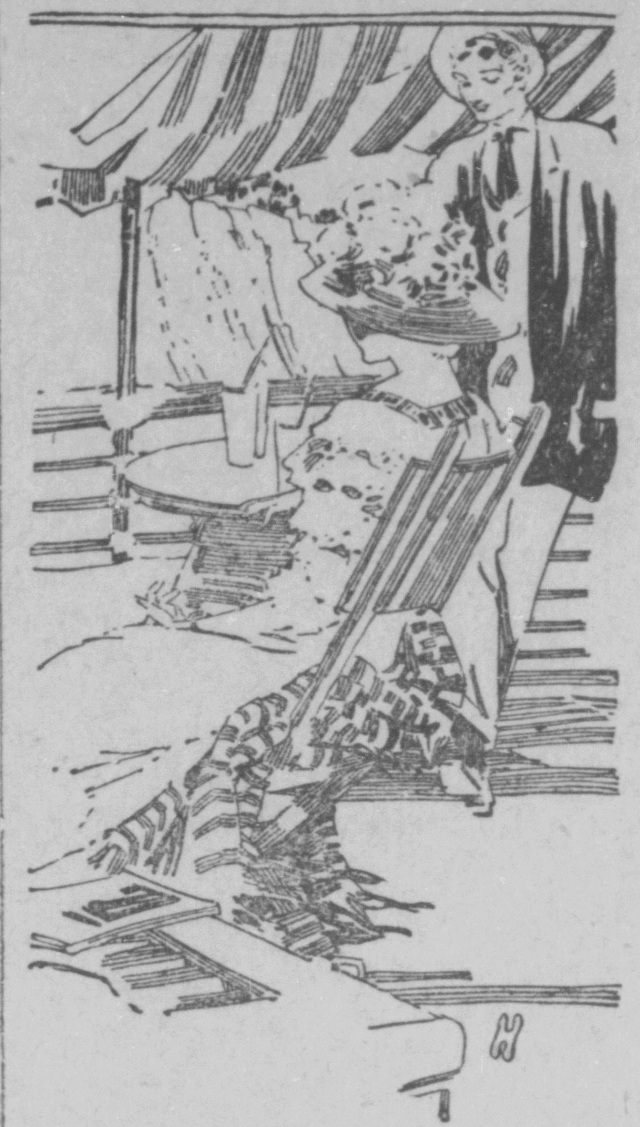

Victoria would like this rule, for she has confessed to me that political questions bore her, and she would much rather be talked to about love or motoring or even bridge, but she always reads the newspapers hard for fifteen minutes while Thompson does her hair, if she's going out to a big lunch or dinner, so that she will be up in everything and able to talk brilliantly to members of parliament or stuffy old things in the house of lords.

I calmed down somewhat after I'd recovered from the first shock. There was so much to admire that it seemed a shame to fret. Besides, it was soothing to sit on the yacht's deck under a pale green awning, drinking what I call a lemon squash and Potter and Sally obstinately believe to be lemonade. While Mrs. Ess Kay angrily read nasty paragraphs about herself and hilariously about her friends in a regular highwayman of a paper, Smart Sayings, Sally Woodburn told me charming legends of the Hudson, dear old Dutch things, most of them, which had been made into plays and poems, and I was sorry when we came to West Point at last.

But I wasn't sorry for long. The minute we got on shore at a quaint little landing shored inconspicuously among beautiful wooded hills, the most exquisite scents of ferns and trees and sweet, moist earth came hurrying down to welcome us. Eton is not more beautiful than West Point, and as we drove up the hill under an arbor of trees I saw that the buildings cleverly contrived to look old and gray and picturesque, like ours. The elms in a big green square past the top of the hill had a venerable air, too, so they must have been precocious about growing for it doesn't stand to reason that West Point can be as ancient as Oxford or Eton. But anyway the elms were there, making an effect that England couldn't improve on, and there were some gray stone barracks and a long line of officers' quarters built of wood and brick. I was glad that we were to stop with Potter, instead of going to a hotel, for I did want to see thoroughly what garrison life is like. Potter has only half a house, though I suppose he's rich enough to buy up all West Point if it were for sale, but he had got a chum of his who lives in the other half to clear out of his part and give it to us for the day and night.

Vic has been at Aldershot, and even to Malta and Gib. But I never have, and I never saw any officers' quarters at home, so I don't know how they compare with American ones. Potter's and his friend's are exactly like a doll's house turned into a museum. The rooms are tiny and most of the furniture is made to fold up, but Stan would be green with envy if he could

It was even better than if we had been ordinary tourists.

see their Persian rugs and their silver things and their dozens of meerschaums and their curiosities from all over the world.

I asked Potter what he would do when he was ordered away.

"That depends on where I'm ordered," said he. "If I don't like the place, I'll resign and be a mere cit. It would be easy to get back again into the army if there were any fun going."

"What kind of fun?" I wanted to know.

"A war with somebody, of course," said he. Men have the most extraordinary ideas of fun. But they seem to be alike about that in England and America. They are never so happy as when they are killing something or in danger of being killed themselves. I can't imagine how it would feel to be like that, but I know if they were different we should hate them. And Potter looked so nice in his soldier clothes (which he got into while we were making ourselves pretty for lunch) that I couldn't help thinking it would be a pity for him to leave the army.

His friend was invited to lunch with us, to make up for sacrificing his house. He is nicer than Potter or even Mr. Doremus, but not half so handsome or brave looking, or with such a charming voice as poor Jim Brett, who is not, I suppose, a gentleman except by nature; otherwise he couldn't have been in the steerage.

HOW TO CURE SKIN DISEASES.

Eczema, pimples, dandruff and itching skin diseases are of local origin and are caused by germs. In order to cure these diseases the germs and their poisons must be driven to the surface of the skin and destroyed. Salves and greasy lotions may give temporary relief, but they do not destroy the germs that cause the disease. A St. Louis chemist has discovered a clean vegetable liquid remedy that will draw the germs and their poisons to the surface of the skin and destroy them, leaving a nice, clear, healthy skin. This remedy is known as Zemo, and by its many remarkable cures has attracted the attention of the leading scientists and skin specialists of this country and Europe.

Zemo has been given the most cordial reception by the public of any similar remedy ever produced, and it is recognized as an honest medicine that makes honest cures.

Zemo is for sale everywhere. You can obtain a trial package free by writing to the E. W. ROSE MEDICINE CO., St. Louis, Mo. Mr. F. E. Wolcott has secured the agency for Zemo in Rushville, and will gladly show you proof of some of the wonderful cures made by this remarkable remedy.

NO DOUBT OF GOOD FEELING

Japan Doing Everything Possible to Show It.

FINE DISPLAY OF FRIENDSHIP

No Detail of Ceremony of That Prov-erbially Polite People Has Been Omitted in the Program of Reception Accorded the Officers and Men of the Battleship Fleet in Beautiful Nippon, From the Emperor Down to the Humblest Subject All Exhibiting a Gracious Desire to Make the Visitors Feel Welcome.

Tokio, Oct. 20.—The reception accorded the American Atlantic fleet by the government and people of Japan is conceded by the American naval officers to be the heartiest and most perfectly carried out of the many receptions received by the fleet since it sailed from Hampton Roads. Rear Admiral Sperry said today that he was utterly unable to say how it had been accomplished, but that the welcome given the fleet and its officers and men here has been so carefully planned and carried out to the most minute detail that a lasting impression has been stamped upon the mind of every American who has witnessed it.

The men of the American and Japanese fleets are fraternizing everywhere in Tokio and Yokohama. Every wish of the American sailors is anticipated, and each bluejacket finds an English-speaking guide among the Japanese sailors. The American uniform is the "open sesame" everywhere, the cordiality of the Japanese extending to the inhabitants of the most remote villages. It is impossible to doubt the sincerity of the Japanese. The American officers and sailors are already beginning to understand the fact that the evident desire on the part of the Japanese for the friendship of America is not founded upon opportunism, but finds its source in a sincere wish to show that such friendship, at least on the part of the Japanese, has existed always, and that this visit of the fleet has merely afforded the Japanese an opportunity for the expression of that feeling.

There can be no doubt that the simultaneous visits of the American exposition commissioners, the Pacific coast business men and the Atlantic fleet are a part of an organized plan of the Japanese to finally wipe out all misunderstanding between Japan and America and to give the visiting Americans an insight into the real attitude toward the United States.

It is absolutely certain that already the desired effect upon Americans has been produced. Since the arrival of the fleet not a single unpleasant incident has occurred, though the sailors of both fleets are swarming through the towns about Yokohama and Tokio. Speaking at the dinner given by Ambassador O'Brien, Admiral Sperry said that he was unable to account for the perfect way in which the reception to himself and his men had been carried out; but that it certainly surpassed anything of the kind that he had ever seen.

Early this morning Admiral Sperry was received at the imperial palace; tomorrow morning the admirals and captains of the fleet will be the guests of the emperor at the palace. Admiral Sperry conveyed to the emperor a message from President Roosevelt. This message breathed a spirit of friendship and sympathy and expressed keen appreciation of the traditional friendship between the two nations and an earnest wish for the strengthening and continuance of the friendly relations of the past. The emperor's reply was in equally cordial tone.

Three thousand sailors from the American fleet are granted shore liberty daily, and it is remarkable that, notwithstanding their long confinement aboard ship, not a single difficulty has been reported; bearing out the statement of Admiral Sperry made in one of his speeches here, that the American sailor of today is the result of that development and education which Japan is seeking in every department of her national life.

Americans throughout Japan are enthusiastically regarding the visit of the fleet and the cordiality of the reception accorded their fellow-countrymen, though the program is so elaborate and so fully carried out that at times it becomes almost monotonous. Still the visiting Americans are given the opportunity to see more of Japan than any ordinary tourist could possibly accomplish in the same time.

Mr. Kern at Opponent's Home. Utica, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Townsmen of James S. Sherman, Republican vice presidential candidate, gathered in large numbers in the Majestic theater here last night to listen to an expounding of anti-trust arguments by Mr. Sherman's political opponent, John W. Kern. As the Democratic nominee walked upon the stage, he was handed a message of welcome, telegraphed to him by Mr. Sherman, and the speaker's opening remarks were in a happy vein, apropos of the incident.

A heavy snowstorm is reported from Colorado.

Do You Think For Yourself?

Or, do you open your mouth like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you?

There is an intelligent thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true honest medicine or known composition, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills.

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print, as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, narcotics, harmful, or habit-forming drugs, and no agent enters into it that is not highly recommended by the most advanced and leading medical teachers and authorities of their several schools of practice. These authorities recommend the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of exactly the same ailments for which this world-famed medicine is advised.

No other medicine for woman's ills has any such professional endorsement as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has received, in the unqualified recommendation of each of its several ingredients by scores of leading medical men of all the schools of practice. Is such an endorsement not worthy of your consideration?

A booklet of ingredients, with numerous authoritative professional endorsements by the leading medical authorities of this country, will be mailed free to any one sending name and address with request for same. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Distracted by Cruel Treatment.

Huntington, L. I., Oct. 20.—After spending a night of terror, hiding in a barn from friends who were searching the woods for her, Mrs. Abbie Meerlongola, who was twice kidnapped by two men and kept a prisoner in the woods, returned to her sister's home in this village. She was so frightened and dazed by her experience at the hands of the kidnapers that she could tell no connected story of her ill-treatment.

Billek's Plea Rejected.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Herman Billek, the Bohemian fortune teller, must hang for the murder of six members of the Vrzal family in Chicago in June, 1907. The supreme court of the United States has dismissed for want of jurisdiction the plea of the condemned murderer for a writ of habeas corpus.

Woman Killed by Explosion.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Anna Powers, forty years old, wife of Geo. C. Powers, foreman of the erecting department of the Apperson automobile works, is dead of burns received from the explosion of a coal oil lamp in her home.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

HAS THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE

From What He Has Seen of the Trend
 of Thought on His Long Tour West.
 South and Now in the East, Mr. Taft Declares "I'm Going to Be Elected"
—At Baltimore He Tells the People
 the Real Issue of the Campaign Is Whether Republicans Shall Receive a Vote of Confidence.

Baltimore, Oct. 20.—Hitting straight at his opponent, Mr. Bryan, with even more force than in the North, West or South, Judge William H. Taft yesterday carried his campaign to the very doors of New York city, and gave a clear indication of the character of speeches he will make in the Empire State next week. Mr. Taft spent three hours in Newark, an hour in Elizabeth, an hour and twenty minutes in Trenton, an hour in Wilmington, and the entire evening in Baltimore. He encountered tremendous crowds and enthusiasm spontaneous and ample.
 His extended efforts of the day were
 at Newark, Elizabeth and Baltimore.
 At Newark he gave attention to all the issues save labor. In his Elizabeth speech he dwelt solely on the labor question, and last night he combined the Newark and Elizabeth addresses.

The zest with which Delaware received the candidate resulted in curtailing the Wilmington speech to but a few lines. The crowd in the square opposite the public building, where the speakers' stand stood, was so jammed with people that it was with the greatest difficulty that Mr. Taft was gotten through. And when he reached the stand the pressure in the throng was so great that many women
 and children were removed in distress.
 Mr. Taft realized and so stated, that his voice was such that he could not be heard by the crowd.

"I can only say to you," he remarked, "that from what I have seen in New Jersey today and what I have seen in Delaware today, and what I saw in the South and West in the last three weeks, I am going to be elected, and it would give me the greatest pride if in that electoral vote
 I could have the three from Delaware."

"The real issue of the campaign is," said Mr. Taft, "whether you think the Republican party by what it has done in the last twelve years is entitled to your confidence. Even if it has done something to displease you, is it not much to be preferred to the Democratic party under any circumstances, considering the history of that party, and considering the peculiarities—to use no more offensive expression—of the leadership of that party?"

The acts of the Republican party
 were then recounted: Establishing the gold standard; repealing the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill and enacting the Dingley tariff; fighting the Spanish
 war; the Cuban problem; Porto Rico,
 the Philippines, the Panama canal—
 "these were problems," said the candidate, "that had not been solved in the platforms of the party. The Democratic party has no cohesion except that of opposition to the Republican party."

BRYAN IN INDIANA

The Candidate Touring Along the Line of the Monon.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—William J. Bryan
 left Chicago at 6:45 this morning over the Monon road in his special car attached to a regular train,
 and will speak at points in Indiana
 along the line of the Monon during the day and in Louisville, Ky., tonight.

Mr. Bryan arrived in this city last night at 8 o'clock in a blaze of glory,
 after an all-day trip through the state.
 Thousands assembled at the Union
 depot to greet him as his special pulled in an hour and fifteen minutes
 late, and in the crowd to do him honor
 were a large delegation from the Cook County Democracy, members of the national committee and all the local Democratic candidates, including the candidates for congress, who escorted him in fifty automobiles to Pilsen park, where he addressed a great throng. From Pilsen park the Democratic candidate was escorted to Arcade hall, where another big crowd accorded him an ovation. Many in the Pilsen park audience were laboring people.

"If I am elected president," said Mr.
 Bryan, "and the more I travel and mingle with the people the more convinced I am that I will be elected—if I am elected I intend to have a secretary of labor as a member of the cabinet. The affairs of the workmen of this country are too great not to have a representative on the president's advisory board. From this secretary I should seek advice on legislation of interest to the workman."

 Taking up the subject of publication of campaign funds, Mr. Bryan said:
 "I asked a large audience whether they were in favor of the Republican method of publishing contributions
 after the campaign, or the Democratic way of publishing them before. I asked all in favor of the Republican way to hold up their hands. Not one hand was displayed."

The feature of Mr. Bryan's journey
 through his native state of Illinois
 yesterday was the accusation, repeatedly made, that the Republican party was now preparing to purchase the election. The statement, first made at Alton, caused a distinct sensation.
 The Democrats, he said, were asking
 only for $100,000 with which to finish
 the work of the campaign, while the Republicans were asking for a million. "What do they need the money
 for now?" he inquired, and, answering
 his own question, he declared that it was for use on election day "as they have used it year after year."

SEVERE LOSS OF LIFE
 DUE TO FOREST FIRES

List in Northern Michigan Exceeds Two Score.

Apena, Mich., Oct. 20.—The verified known death list resulting from the forest fires in Presque Isle and Alpenna counties stands today at forty-
 one, with several people still reported missing and a growing probability of severe loss of life in northern Pulaw-ski and Krakow townships in Presque Isle county, the first indication of which came yesterday with the reporting of six dead bodies in Pulawski, including those of Mrs. Herman Erke
 and children. Two woodsmen today found the skeleton of Mrs. William D.
 Rose, living near Ocqueoc. The woman's husband was away working and she was alone in her home, surrounded by the forest. Evidence of back-firing bear mute testimony to her hopeless fight for life.

At least sixty families were living near the shore of Lake Huron in the northern half of Pulawski and Krakow townships, and practically nothing has been heard from them since the fires.
 It is difficult to get into this district,
 as the country is cut up by many streams and the bridges have been burned, while fallen trees block the roads in every direction. It is said that the flames swept all through this district to the water's edge, and it is feared more bodies will be found.
 Christ Criger, a fisherman, escaped in an open boat, badly scorched.

At Grand Lake a farmer and wife and four children are known to have taken refuge in a boat and nothing has been heard from them since. A dozen school children sent home by teachers have not been heard from.

WAITED OUTSIDE TO HEAR WATSON

Hundreds Stood for Over Two Hours
at Big Meeting in Connersville Last Night.

TWO OVERFLOW MEETINGS

About two hundred of Watson's friends and neighbors—including his wife—went to Connersville last night to participate in the great ovation tendered the Republican nominee for governor there. Nothing like it was ever seen in Connersville before, as is the case wherever the distinguished nominee appears. The large Auditorium was filled one hour before the speaking began and fully one thousand were turned away. Watson and other speakers addressed overflow meetings from the rear of the theater and from the front balcony, where hundreds patiently waited outside for over two hours when assured Watson would speak to them at the conclusion of the indoor meeting.

Watson returned home on one of the special cars, and remained here all night. He was accompanied by Hon. Ed Hendee of Anderson and the Old Shady quartette.

AFFINITY NOW AFTER BEAVER

Mrs. Myrtle Black Powers Demands Damages and Restoration of Good Name.

WOULDN'T DENY STORY TOLD

That She Intended to Marry Beaver in Event he Secured a Divorce.

Driven From Home is the title of one of Charles Blaney's melodramas and it is likewise the story title of one whose plight has been chronicled in these columns during the past ten days. And the one "driven" declares she means to have things righted or there will be something doing in the courts.

Yesterday there came to Rushville Mrs. Myrtle Black Powers, the much heralded affinity of U. G. Beaver. Mrs. Powers was hot under the collar. She admitted writing the letter to Beaver that caused all the trouble, but says she did not use any endearing terms as far as she could remember.

"But you wrote seeking a date with him, didn't you?" asked a Daily Republican representative.

"I wrote asking to see him—but it was a business matter."

She says she was driven from this city and her fair name injured by the action of the jealous wife of Beaver. Unless the matter is satisfactorily adjusted and she is put right before her own people she swears she will institute a suit for damages. Mrs. Powers has employed an Indianapolis firm of lawyers. They sent her here yesterday to secure data in event a suit results. Beaver has employed Watson, Titsworth & Green, and says he intends to stand pat. He claims he never encouraged the woman.

When questioned yesterday as to whether there was any truth in the report that she intended to have Beaver secure a divorce and then marry him and as to whether they ever had an understanding to that effect, she replied: "Oh, a person can hear most anything nowadays."

She returned to Indianapolis last night.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR
Doctor Said, Mrs. Lucier's Stomach Was Worn Out, but Mi-o-na Cured Her.

Why, oh why will people of intelligence continue to suffer with dyspepsia or distressing stomach troubles, when Mi-o-na, the only scientific remedy, has a record of thousands of just such cures as the following:

"I was near to death's door. The doctor said he had done all he could; that my stomach was old and worn out. I was so weak I could not walk. I took Mi-o-na tablets, and have been eating hearty ever since, and I am able to work like a tiger. I wish I could go and thank you myself. I send my word and my picture, and I thank you again."—Mrs. Nelson Lucier, 112 Fisk street, Athol, Mass.

Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia. There isn't a particle of doubt about it; and if any of the readers of the Daily Republican are suffering from stomach trouble of any kind, F. B. Johnson & Co. will sell you a box of Mi-o-na for 50 cents with an absolute guarantee of relief, or money back. In many cases one box will effect a permanent cure; in chronic conditions more is necessary. But one thing is certain: one box of Mi-o-na will make you feel so much better and brighter, so much more energetic, that you will not give it up till cured.

Mi-o-na is not a digester. Digesters never cured dyspepsia, and never will. Mi-o-na is a stomach strengthener that builds up the worn out, flabby inside of the stomach, and makes the stomach strong enough to perfectly digest what you eat.

LANGUAGE OF THE BAR ROOM

Is Used by the Democratic Saloon Organ in its "Hit-and-Miss" Method of Attack.

ARE NOW ON THE DEFENSIVE

And it Might be Said "Offensive"—Charley Frazee Makes a Generous Offer.

Said the local Democratic organ last night "Who in h— will believe the Daily Republican anyhow?"

Well, the people do not expect anything other than bar room language from a newspaper that is controlled, edited and conducted by local saloon men and their cohorts. It was long ago branded as the saloon organ and self respecting Democrats and Republicans of Rush county will not tolerate having the saloon dictate and dominate in politics.

Their alibi for using such dirty methods and attacks is that all is fair in politics. To win, no matter how, is their policy. Little matter to them if they drag down in the mire the names of reputable citizens. Little matter to them if they employ bar room filth and foul mouthed English and send it broadcast into the homes of respectable citizens, around virtuous firesides to be read by children, wives and mothers. Anything, no matter how low or degrading, to win.

Their uncalculated, malicious and lying attack of Supt. W. O. Headlee emphasizing this fact. To send out into the world a lie about an able bodied, strong man is mean enough, but to do so against one battling for life in another clime, and not here to defend himself (although his loyal friends readily came to his support at once) is a grievous sin that cries out to heaven for vengeance. But Supt. Headlee's fair name will live in loving remembrance long after the vicious methods of an ambitious lot of saloon adherents, void of all principle and manliness, are forgotten. Such attacks are losing the Democrats hundreds of votes on all the tickets to be voted on in Rush county. The Headlee incident alone will cost Democracy one hundred votes, for he is a man that the people know, respect and love.

We admire men that fight fair but when the saloon element think they can bulldoze the people of Rush county or any other "civilized" community, we rise up with the better class of American citizens, regardless of party affiliation and cry out: "No, it is not so; it cannot be."

Republican County Chairman Frazee said today that from a standpoint of making Republican votes among Democrats he knew of no other force stronger than the local Democratic organ, and that he would gladly donate them $100 rather than see them quit. "It means," said Mr. Frazee, "that the Republican county ticket will be elected by a bigger majority this year than ever before. There is too much common decency in the rank and file to approve of such methods, and invariably, it has been the history of such methods everywhere that the voters repudiate mud slingers, liars and malicious falsifiers at the polls."

For the sake of brotherly love and one man's duty to another it should cease, but for the sake of a great Republican majority, it should continue.

DRAIS HAD THE CITY ALARMED

Crazed Stenographer, Who Left Rushville Last Week, Now in Shelbyville Jail.

WAS ARRESTED IN WALDRON

Accosted a Number of People With Butcher Knife—Flirted With School Girls Persistently.

Arthur Drais, the demented man who lived at the William Smith home in West Third street here for several weeks and left this city last week, is now in jail at Shelbyville. The Shelbyville News adds:

Fear and fright were allayed in many Shelbyville homes Monday night, when Arthur Drais, believed to be mentally deranged, was arrested at Waldron and placed in jail. Waldron citizens were attracted by Drais' peculiar capers and called Sheriff Butler to arrest him. The sheriff, accompanied by John Farrell, took Drais in charge, arriving in Shelbyville at 10:10 Monday night. No difficulty was experienced in effecting a capture. Drais declared, "I've been looking for this," and permitted the officers to handcuff him.

Drais spent Sunday and Monday in Waldron. He flirted with the school children there and caused terror to reign in many homes. The residents became so alarmed they sought protection by forming in crowds and watching the young man pending the arrival of the officers. The experience at the Morrison home in Shelbyville, where Drais entered yelling "murder," "save me," and other blood curdling words, was an impetus to the excitement and few women were on the streets alone last night.

Tony Evatts met Drais on the streets several days ago. The latter pulled a knife and with fiery eyes and gritting teeth hissed: "Ah! You are a government spy. I have you

now. You are working for these policemen." He struck at Evatts, who ran, making his escape. Drais is alleged to have threatened to kill the son of Ed Flack, the plumber. He ran Mrs. Tilden McClain into the Dunbar sewing machine shop last week and frightened a school girl on Locust street by following her.

A number of others report being attacked by Drais, who carried a large butcher knife.

PERSONAL POINTS

—John Titsworth was in Connersville this afternoon.

—Will Inlow left today to visit his ranch in the Southwest.

—Connersville News: Lincoln Guffin, wife and children of Rushville were entertained by Robert Porter and family Sunday.

—Thomas E. Davidson of Greensburg passed through here today on his way to Brookville, where he will speak tonight.

—Mrs. Frank Walton of East Sixth street returned from Wabash after a short visit with her brothers, cousins, and nieces. She said she is happy to say she found them all Watson men and also the good familiar picture of our next governor, Mr. Watson, in their homes. They are all temperance men.
